THEY ARE STILL OUT

The Jury in the Case of Paige Versus The Herald

HAS REACHED NO VERDICT

At 11:30 Last Night Judge Grove Became Tired of Waiting For the Jury and West Home.

The jurous in the libel case of Paige versus Tue Henato have not yet come to an agreement or badn't at 11:30 lest night: The members are locked in the jury room and will remain there until 9 o'clock this morning. It was expected that the jury would arrive at a verdict at 7:30 last night, the time to which the court took a recess; but at that time the foreman sent in a note requesting that the judge's charge be read again. Judge Grove again admonished them as to the duty of a jury in a case of the kind and requested a speedy verdict. At 11:00 there was no signs of an agreement, and the jury were locked up for the night.

Judge Grove's Charge,

The defense placed Charles C Church of Lowed, on the stand in the morning, and Mr Church testified that the re-port of the Page Richmond transaction was public talk on the streets of the village at the time the story was printed in The Hausen. The arguments of the counsel were then made, and Judge throws charged the jury.

After briefly reciting the case the cour said in substance : The plaintiff claims he had a legitimate busines transaction with Mr. Kich most inside in good faith. He claims the publication of this article resulted in great injury to personal character and business.

The article is libelous per se, and the has allows thanages in case it be proven that the plaintiff's character or business has been damaged. The defense claim ation of the article was in the course of its regular business as a neaspaper. It claims that it is the part of a newspaper publisher's busitime to advertise such transactions as that the p ermation was obtained from able and who are so regarded. Heliev ing, it is claimed, that the item was true and that public interest would be conserved by printing it, it was published. It is claimed that they published a full retraction, printed in a prominent place in the paper.

Another feature is in the nature of a rustification of the article, and sub-stantially is that after the commence-ment of this suit the defense made a further investigation and inquiry, and they ascertained in substance that the original assection is in effect true and that they were justified in the use of the words which were used in the article printed. If you find that the article is mentially true and that a fraud was perpetrated, it will be a complete justiation for the defense.

. If Printed in Good Faith.

If you find the article was printed in good faith in the regular course of busi-ties, upon information believed to be true, that will be a question which will he your duty to take into consideration for the plaintiff. It takes away the malice. The retraction serves the same of Got is af present a child of wrath.

If you find that the article was not true, it entitles the plaintiff to nominal damages, at least. It appears that notice was served for a retraction, and on the same day a summone was taken out in this court and delivered to the sheriff, but the sheriff was notified to hold the sums as and it was not served until the acafter the retraction was printed. I amtenly of the opinion, and so charge you, that the taking out of the summons constituted the beginning of suit, and that the suit was begun before the cor-rection was published. In accordance with this no exemplary or punitive dismingres can be collected. Libelous Press.

If you find the acticle published was untrue and intended to harm the plain tiff it is an unlawful publication and the plaintiff is entitled to damages. If you find that the article brings tempt and scorn upon the plaintiff, and to not true, then it is libelous.

The said publication was libelius per se, and if not justified or shown to nominal clausages, six cents at least, and costs general damages as would necessari's flow from its publication.

The placetiff's reputation in the state of Machinan may be taken into consider. ation in determining the amount of the held liable for the publication of the stem in newspapers in Detroit, Buffalo and observers, even though the articles are a regetition of the ones printed.

In determining the character of chaptiff's transaction with Richmond, mry man consider and determine evidence whether the employnext of Resumend by plaintiff in the he sales much of the invention of plainto and interest in his application for patent right were no were not in the usual and unitrary course of transaction of such business, and whether they were or not being fide on the part of said

All exemplary damages must he left out. You must limit yourself to what in your judgment you deen fair

The jury than extend 11 7.30 there reported that they would like to fisten by the judge's charge again. It was reread to them and the court curefully exalmost the grounds again which damages could be allowed.

At 10 o'efeck a discussion on capital punishment was opened by M. M. Houseman and was continued by other speakers until the last car left the lake. Other visitors at the lake last night amused themselves by listening to the music from Wuraburg's band, in boat riding or strolling about the moon lit walks in the groves. A large party from H. Leonard's Sons & Co.'s retail store visited the lake, the guest of Miss Miller who is seen to leave Leonard's and was giving her companions a tost ride. There were many other smaller parties enjoying the opening in their own spe-cial ways. Many found entertainment in dropping their nickels in a slot ma-chine and hearing the clatter down its insatiable throat and strike with a dis-heartening thad on the bottom of the pan. Have You Any Grounds for Doubting These Certificates?

These Are Questions for Every Reader to Ponder.

For overn year Dr. Rankin has placed these certificates in the papers for the inspection of the public. Thousands have investigated them, but never yet have they found them overdrawn. In fact numerous people have told the doctor that in every case they investigated they found the half had not been told.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A case in point, showing that Dr. Rankin is skillful in this discuse, is that of Master Louis Thompson. His father, who is connected with the general office of the Chicago.

LOUIS THOMPSON, 265 TURNER ST.

A West Michigan R. R., says: "My boy for several years had been troubled with some head and stomach trouble. His food would not digest well and he would have frequent attacks of cramping pains in the stomach that would lay him up. His stomach would bloat up and sometimes get sour. His nose was constantly filled up and the mucous would drop down into his throat. We did everything for him but without success. Finally I took him to Dr. Rankin; he imdiately diagnosed the case as one of catarrh of the head and stomach. I can say with sincerity that the catarrh of the stomach is absolutely cured; he has no trouble with it in any form, the mucous no longer drops into his throat and he has stopped that hawking and spitting. My wife and myself can conscientionally commend the doctor's skill."
